

RED DOOR FAMILY FARM

- CSA -

Community

SUPPORTED

AGRICULTURE

What is a CSA?

Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) is a partnership between a farm and participating members of the surrounding community. It is a direct food-to-consumer relationship, connecting people with their food source by sharing in the risk and enjoying the bounty. By making a financial commitment to our farm by May 1st, you buy a share of the harvest and become a member of our CSA.

We then use this money for seeds, greenhouse expenses, equipment, labor, etc. and in return you will receive a weekly box of fresh, seasonal fruits and vegetables delivered to your neighborhood drop-site.

This model of farming supports sustainable and responsible land management, a shrinking carbon footprint, and communities that can nourish themselves. It also gives the farmers a sure market and a gauge to produce by, minimizing losses, ensuring the success of the farm, and producing good food at a better price to the consumer.

About Our CSA

- $\frac{3}{4}$ bushel box of fresh seasonal produce delivered weekly to centrally located drop sites.
- 20 weeks --Begins early June until late October
- You will be invited to all farm events including: farm dinners and free u-pick when there is extra
- There will be a weekly newsletter with recipes, storage tips, and what's happening on the farm
- You are encouraged to enjoy your farm throughout the season!
- Cost is $525 for the season, due May 1st. Space is limited so reserve your spot soon!

RedDoorFamilyFarm.com | 715-409-1738

